

AN AWAKENING IS URGED AT THE BUSINESS MEN'S BANQUET.

Speeches Ring With Arguments in Behalf of New Industrial Energy at Affair Given D. G. Dery Last Night.

ABOUT TWO HUNDRED PRESENT

Dr. Donohoe Says There Is Enough Coal in This Region Lower Down Than Present Veins to Last For 1,000 Years.

Signs of a civic awakening were evident at the "Get Together" dinner of the Chamber of Commerce in the Y. M. C. A. building last night. The toast was sounded loudly by Dr. G. P. Donohoe, who struck a sympathetic chord with his audience, but more than ordinary interest was shown in the remarks of all the speakers.

The spirit was expressed that the dawn of a tomorrow in the civic and industrial development of the town is close at hand, and it was prophesied by more than one of the speakers that the new epoch is in the making. The dinner was held for the principal purpose of becoming acquainted with D. G. Dery of Catawba, who is looking up Connelville as the possible location for his newest silk mill. Silk mills proved to be a secondary consideration, when civic pride was stirred by militant speeches relating upon the possibilities of Connelville and the opportunities that knock at the door, awaiting but a response from the business men of the town.

The meeting was a representative one. It was larger than had been anticipated and more than 200 people sat around the tables and partook of a most substantial dinner. Each of those 200, too, backed their interest by a one dollar bill, so they were there for no apparent other purpose of manifesting an interest in any proposition to boom the town. Every man got his dollar's worth, according to the general consensus of opinion. There was no subscription taken, no one was asked to join the Chamber of Commerce; there was no begging. The dinner was one of the best ever served under similar circumstances, the service of the waiters remarkably prompt, and when the chairs were pushed back and the lights were dimmed, it was a happy and contented audience that awaited the unrefined flow of language that poured forth for more than an hour. Time slipped by quickly and, when adjournment was finally reached, all waited for a second or two after the toastmaster was seated before breaking up the session. That was regarded as a sign of exceptional interest.

There were stirring speeches on all sides, ringing calls to arms, appeals for the citizens of Connelville to rise in their might and push upward and onward to greater development. President Worth Kilpatrick of the Chamber of Commerce made a happy selection in his choice for toastmaster. Superintendent J. W. Brown of the West Penn filed that rather trying position and did nobly. True, he was dubbed the "toastmaster," but his lads were of the nature that brought forth a smile and left no sting.

Mr. Brown opened the proceedings with an apology and every other speaker followed suit except Burgess Evans, who simply said he had no speech to make. Mr. Brown declared that while he is no speechmaker, his office advises the establishment which houses one familiar with the English language. That was his introduction of H. P. Snyder, who said in part:

I feel somewhat like Horatius at the bridge, although that gentleman was supported on either side, while I have no support. When told I was to make a speech, I was informed that Mr. Higgins and Mr. Ruth would also talk, and I hoped to slide in the last one and get off easy. It appears that both of these gentlemen were unable to be present. The subject selected for me has been "The Industrial History of Connelville in the Past and Its Future." The past of Connelville has been a busy one: its history is written full of enterprise. Fayette county, over 100 years ago, was one of the principal iron producing sections in the United States. It made cannon balls for the Revolutionary war in 1780, along Jackson Creek, the ruins of the old furnace still remaining. The county is dotted with the ruins of furnaces which over 100 years ago made iron with charcoal out of the native ores. In the Connelville of the early days there was a large and iron furnace at the old stone mill. There were two paper mills, too, one across the river and another at Bluestone. We were in the iron manufacturing business ten years ago and have been at it ever since. We no more make iron from the native ore, better fields having been discovered. The coke trade took the place of the iron trade. This coke trade makes the best furnace fuel in the world, and, step by step, a mighty industry has been established.

When our coal is exhausted, as it must be in the years to come, we have other mineral resources. A recent map of the Geological Survey, showing the production and extent of iron ore in this country reveals some astonishing facts. The iron ore deposits are but dots on the map, while the largest

WAILS LONG AND LOUD BEHIND PRISON BARS

Elita Miner Mournful Over Being Locked Up For Being Incurable. In Trouble Before.

There were loud lamentations at the police station this morning when Elita Miner was brought there by Officer R. E. Stillington on a charge of incorrigibility preferred by the girl's mother, Mrs. U. A. Miner of Dutch Bottom. The girl, the mother says, has been very bad of late. There are times when she uses her fists to good advantage around the house, it is said. The girl has been before Burgess Evans before this.

After seeing the prisoner behind the bars, and hearing the pitiful wails that emanated from the women's department of the basins, Mrs. Miner relented and wanted to get her daughter out again. There was nothing doing. Chief Butler said he had been bothered too much of late with the miners running to his house with tales about the girl. It is expected that information may be made against her after Burgess Evans tries the case this evening.

OFFICER GETS REWARD FOR BOY'S CAPTURE

West Virginia Reformatory. Official Comes for Fugitive Lad Who Was Picked Up Here.

Special Officer W. A. Smell of the West Virginia Reformatory, near Gratot, arrived here this morning and took back with him Richard Matheny, a fugitive from that institution. He also brought along a check for $25, the reward which goes to Officer Thomas McDonald for catching the lad. Matheny, it is said, will be sent to the penitentiary as a consequence of his escape.

The joke is said to be on Officer John A. Lowe. Lowe was tipped off that both of the boys who escaped were sleeping in the lumber yard along the Baltimore & Ohio tracks. He did not take any stock in the story and in the meantime one of the boys disappeared. When McDonald got the tip he landed Matheny and the $25. He will split the reward, it is said, with his informant.

Hurman Missed $50 After House Left. Blamed Loss on Him and Threatened Vengeance—Murder Charge Will Be Lodged Against One Suspect.

United Press Telegram. WAYNESBURG, Oct. 20.—The Coroner's investigation into the killing of Calvin House at Rice's Landing yesterday will probably result in a charge of murder being brought against one person now being held as a suspect. Newton Phillips, the night watchman, now says he did not find House lying on his side at the railroad station, but on the floor of Frank Hurman's home.

Hurman and his wife were standing over the body. It is said House went to the Hurman home Sunday afternoon. Shortly after he left Hurman claimed he missed $50. He claimed House took it and vowed vengeance. He is said to have confronted House when he alighted from the train Monday night. Both went to the Hurman home.

Phillips heard the disturbance and found House wounded, on the floor.

TRUMP RUN BRIDGE COULD BE RAISED

Eight Feet and Permit Access to Land Waiting for Industrial Development.

If the County Commissioners can be induced to raise the bridge across Trump run along South Pittsburgh street eight feet above its present level, it will mean the development of an extensive tract of land suitable for factory sites. With this bridge elevated it will be possible to construct a sliding up Trump hollow, where several acres will be made valuable. These sites are practically worthless for industrial purposes at the present because of it being inaccessible.

These factory sites are said to be exceptionally desirable. Trump run furnishes a plentiful water supply for steaming purposes, while the land lays well.

The matter was first broached yesterday when the reception committee accompanying D. G. Dery looked over the ground. It is said that the Chamber of Commerce will take the matter up with the County Commissioners and endeavor to have the bridge raised.

THE FIRST APPLICANT FOR SILK MILL JOB

Appeared a Little Ahead of the Times in Police Court This Morning.

There was the usual line of drunks before Burgess J. L. Evans in police court this morning. The star prisoner proved to be Frank Gray of Clarksville, Pa. He is one of the times because he came here hoping to land a job in the silk mill. He seemed disappointed when he learned that the mill has only reached the embryo stage as yet. He was permitted to go back to Clarksville, pleading a sick child as his excuse.

The other drunks were of the common variety. James Bradigan was arrested yesterday, got out of his cell during the night and secured some booze. He had an awful jag on when "Turkey" Russell Stillington arrived at the battle this morning. James cursed all the officers and took a few wordsy shots at Burgess Evans. He was locked up in a cell and will be given a hearing this evening.

THE SEVENTH CAVALRY VETERANS IN REUNION

Members of the Famous Organization Are Having a Good Time in Pittsburgh.

The Seventh Pennsylvania Veteran Volunteer Cavalry Association opened its thirty-second annual reunion in Pittsburgh yesterday morning. Headquarters have been established in the Exchange Hotel, Fourth avenue, in charge of Captain F. R. Hutchinson of Pittsburgh. Last night a large campfire was held at the Rev. William H. Knox church, Wythe avenue and Devillers street, where the veterans fought their battles over again, and exchanged reminiscences of the march and bivouac.

The campfire was opened with an invocation by the Rev. William H. Knox. The address of welcome was to have been made by Mayor William A. Nye, but he was unable to be present. Other addresses were made by Attorney William N. McNair, Geo. W. Aikin, whose father was a member of the regiment, and was killed on the firing line. The closing address was delivered by the Rev. N. L. Brown and the benediction by the Rev. David Flanagan. There also was vocal and instrumental music.

The business session, which will open at the Rev. Knox church at 10:30 o'clock this morning, the following resolution was adopted: Resolved, That we heartily endorse the pension bill known as the National Tribune Pension bill and pray that the representatives of this great United States will vote and work for the passage of the aforesaid pension bill, and be it further resolved that, such committee be asked to write to their several representatives, and that they also ask all friends of the veterans to write asking their representatives not only to vote, but also to use their every effort for the passage of the National Tribune Pension bill.

NEW POLLING PLACE FOR THE FIRST WARD

Fire Alarm System Has Taken Up All Space in Room Used for Years.

Where will the voters of the First Ward cast their ballots next month? That is the question that puzzles Constable J. W. Mitchell. For years past the First Ward voters have had their polling place in the fire room of the City Hall, but the Canewell fire alarm system is being extended until it occupies almost all the available space. It will not be possible to hold the election there this fall.

There is just a chance that the Burgess' private office in the City Hall may be utilized on that occasion. If this room could be secured it would be far more satisfactory than the old quarters.

Constable Mitchell is scouting around his ward in an effort to locate a satisfactory polling place.

DECREASE OF THE BOND ISSUE

Also Broached at the Conference and It Is Understood That Would Not Stand in Way If Other Conditions Here Are Favorable.

The location of a silk mill in Connelville by D. G. Dery probably hangs on the labor proposition. That was made clear this morning at a conference between Mr. Dery, Ferdinand Muckley and the executive committee of the Chamber of Commerce which was held in the Second National Bank building. The whole matter was talked over and while no definite proposition was made, it is understood that there will be no difficulty reaching terms providing the labor situation here proves satisfactory.

While convinced that there are sufficient young people here to more than supply a plant the size Mr. Dery proposes to erect, it is a question whether they would take to the work. Mr. Dery, it is understood, will send a representative here who will remain for a week and quietly investigate the situation.

The suggestion was broached that the size of the bond issue be made less than $250,000, and while nothing definite was decided, it is understood that this matter will not stand in the way of securing the mill if other conditions prove satisfactory.

Mr. Dery left with Muckley for Uniontown this morning to visit J. V. Thompson. They will then go to Pittsburgh and from that city return home. Mr. Dery has promised to give the matter careful consideration and will submit his proposition in full after having received a report from his representative who is to come here in a few days. The meeting this morning was well attended, a dozen members of the Chamber of Commerce being on hand to participate in the discussion.

The members of the Chamber of Commerce made it plain that while they are anxious to secure the silk mill, they are also after other industries, and are not desirous of placing all their capital in one concern.

Yesterday afternoon D. G. Dery, the silk manufacturer, held a protracted session with the Chamber of Commerce at which time he explained many phases of the silk industry. After making quite a lengthy address, during which time he covered about the same ground as in his speech at the banquet last night, Mr. Dery withstood a fire of questions from the members of the committee.

Mr. Dery stated that he reserved the right to send one of his representatives here, to remain quietly and unknown for at least a week, and make an investigation into the best location for a factory site. He explained that it is always best to have the factory as close to the homes of the employees as possible. A silk factory, he said, looks like an office building from the outside, the noise of the looms does not penetrate the air and it is not, in any way, a nuisance. The only time there is any noise to speak of is when the operatives are entering or leaving the building, and this is usually but playfulness on the part of the youngsters.

The work is not hard on the employees. They are employed in clean, sanitary rooms. There is but little physical exertion, the worst feature of the work being the long hours that many of the operatives have to stand. While chairs are furnished, the employees usually prefer to stand at the looms and work.

The insurance rates are very cheap because of the many precautions that are taken. The buildings, machinery, stock and everything about the mills are insured at their full value. The use of automatic sprinkling devices reduces the insurance rates, and these sprinklers are also insured against damage by accidental discharge.

Mr. Dery explained it is hard to get a Chamber of Commerce to do anything for a concern after it is located, and for that reason he tries to get everything he will want before hand. As far as the question of whether he puts up his money first, or the town puts forth its money, realized from the sale of bonds, Mr. Dery stated it was immaterial. He expects to do business in a business way, he said.

The silk workers are not all youngsters. There are men well up in years making good money as weavers. When asked by W. D. McGinnis what he considered fair wages for those men, Mr. Dery said $14 or $15 a week. A few make more. There is always chance for promotion for the employees. Each section of from 40 to 70 looms has a foreman and each foreman a helper. There are positions higher up, too.

A WAITRESS' TIP GIVES POLICE TIP.

May Result in Freeing Durbin From Charges Made Against Him.

THREE SUSPECTS IN PITTSBURG

Evidence Was Purely Circumstantial and Two Officers Will Go To Pittsburgh This Afternoon to Investigate the Case.

Did Charles Durbin really assault Andy Constantine on the night of October 9 along South Pittsburgh street? Durbin is being held for court under a charge of the assault, but the police believe he may be innocent. Durbin was held on purely circumstantial evidence. It was a dark night and both Durbin and Constantine claim to have been assaulted by someone they could not identify. Constantine said the man who attacked him was about Durbin's size, but that was as far as the identification went.

This morning Chief of Police Rottler received word from Detective Unger, connected with Alderman W. D. Armstrong's office in Pittsburgh, saying that three men have been arrested there and are suspected of having beaten up a Baltimore & Ohio strikebreaker at Connelville. According to Unger, Elita Brown, a former waitress employed here, gave out the tip that the three men committed the assault here. Chief Rottler and Constable Detective Frank McLaughlin went to Pittsburgh this afternoon to get the men. They are foreigners.

SHINES IN SOCIETY.

Women With Fascinating Hair Always Attract Attention.

If you are a woman with dull, lifeless, ordinary hair, do not feel distressed. Just make up your mind now that you can have just as luxuriant and captivating a head of hair as any other woman, and quickly too.

Just go to A. A. Clark this very day and get a bottle of Parisian Sage. Use it as directed, and in two weeks your scalp will be free of dandruff, your hair will be soft, lustrous and beautiful.

If your hair is falling out, Parisian Sage will stop it.

If your hair is thin, Parisian Sage will make it grow in heavily.

If you have dandruff it will quickly vanish when Parisian Sage is used. It prevents hair from turning gray, stops itching scalp almost instantly and is the ideal dressing for daily use.

A large bottle costs only 50 cents at A. A. Clark's or direct, all charges prepaid, can be American makers (Grove Mfg. Co., Buffalo, N. Y.).

For a long time my hair had been falling out and my scalp gave forth great quantities of dandruff. I used several so-called hair tonics but never received any benefit until I used Parisian Sage. This wonderful tonic cleansed the scalp and hair, removed the dandruff and stopped my hair falling out. There is nothing too good for me to say for Parisian Sage and I strongly endorse its use. Mr. Jesse Sweet, Lowell, Mich., June 23, 1909.

You wash dishes about two hours every day. That's one hour wasted!

Dishes get dirty, greasy and sticky, and soap will not clean them. Soapy dish water merely cleans the surface; it doesn't dig out the corners and drive out the decayed food particles. Moreover, soap leaves your dishes with a soapy, animal fat smell that is far from inviting.

GOLD DUST is the sanitary dish washer. It not only cleans the surface, but digs deep after hidden particles of dirt and kills the germs of decayed food which ordinary dish-water overlooks. GOLD DUST sterilizes, as well as cleanses.

Besides doing the work better than soap or any other cleanser can, GOLD DUST will save just half the time you spend in washing dishes.

"Let the GOLD DUST Twins do your work."

THE SILK MILL PROPOSITION.

The Dery silk mill proposition is perhaps not exclusive to Conneltsville, and it is by no means certain that it will be located in Conneltsville, but whether it is or not we think there is room for congratulation in the interest it has aroused in the community concerning Conneltsville's future.

Conneltsville's uplift during the past four decades was so marked and so steady that it came to be little short of treason to question her ever-growing and glorious destiny. While Conneltsville has not been lacking in enterprise, the greater measure of her prosperity came unbidden, unexpected and almost unawares. The Center of the coke region was the unconscious victim of happy circumstances.

The people for the most part lived on in lazy dreams of easy living, careless or unconscious of the fact that the conditions which conspired to make their prosperity were waning, and that the time was at hand when their further progress would depend entirely upon their own efforts.

The trolley system prolonged this condition. It extended local business over a wider area, and made a boom where otherwise decadence would have become apparent.

The inevitable must be delayed, but it cannot be stopped. Within the past year the necessity of establishing in Conneltsville new and diversified industries in order to divert a backward movement into a forward movement has gradually dawned upon the minds of our men of substance who have their money invested in Conneltsville business and Conneltsville property.

The discussion and consideration of the Dery silk mill proposition has brought this question to a live issue. The awakening is apparently complete. If out of it there comes energetic and businesslike action, we will have abundant cause to thank the silk mill people.

The character of the meeting last evening encourages the hope that the business and property interests of Conneltsville are ready to get together on the Williamsport plan to engage in the work of planting new industries here to take the places of the old ones.

This is the psychological moment. The officers of the Chamber of Commerce should strike while the iron is hot.

Steel coal barges are taking the place of wooden boats. The steel barge will outlive the wooden barge, to say nothing of its ability to stand hard knocks. It will also sit more firmly on the bottom of the river when it goes down.

The House family seems to be a House of Trouble.

As a manufacturing site, Conneltsville is as fine as silk and this is one reason a silk mill is considering the town as a site.

The Cosmetics want more wages. They think $80 per month and found in a small wage for employment circumstances, so virtuous and so hazardous. And so it is. But listen to the Johnstown Democrat "hellers."

Johnstown is threatened with an East Uniontown, and Conneltsville with a South Conneltsville, and both are undesirable citizens.

Fayette county robbers have adopted Wild West manners and methods.

The Rheinhart jury-fixer got off easily. The jury well congratulated themselves and promise each other to never do it again.

The tainted oyster is an undesirable table acquaintance. He always makes himself disagreeable after meals.

The shooting up of Brownsville, Texas, and the shooting up of Brownsville, Pennsylvania, were circumstantially different. In Texas the negro troopers shot into the houses of white people, in Fayette county, the negroes were fired upon by whites. Congress will not investigate the Fayette county affair, but the courts will.

A man landed here yesterday hunting a job in the silk mill. He was a trifle early, but it is better to be too soon than too late. It is better to have to wait than to get left.

The Trump run bridge over South Pittsburg street should by all means be raised sufficiently to permit a railway line beneath, and it should be raised now before there is any extensive building along the street.

A colored minister tells us the negro is improving. It's true. Alex. Rains is working.

The Fairmont man who was chased by his own motor boat didn't enjoy the merry-go-round as much as when he was running it himself.

The West Penn trolley system is putting up its efficiency and putting down its schedule time.

Colonel Dery says he is not from Altoona, and can't answer for the smelter, but that he never runs away from it.

The Conneltsville industrial fair is something to be proud of.

If Scotland talks of running water wages, but not for the purpose of conveying toppers.

WHY NOT?

Why should not the man's hat match that of the woman's in shape?

CHAT WITH OUR CONTEMPORARIES.

The Waynesburg Messenger warns us that something is going to happen over here in Fayette county unless there is "considerable cooling of heads" in the judicial campaign.

Whether the campaign gets hotter or cooler, or poorer or richer, we imagine the something is going to happen in about two weeks from date.

The Johnstown Democrat insists that Johnstown is an ideal summer resort and that it would have plenty of water if the water company practiced proper conservation.

In other words, if the company impounded the superabundance of water during the wet season and carried it over to the dry season, we understand then that it is whether the water company's fault that Johnstown is not a watering place as well as a summer resort.

The Grafton Republican suggests the holding of a Farmers' Institute in that town this winter as a companion-ship for the poultry show.

Our West Virginia contemporary is public-spirited and intelligent. It is for the advancement of the farmers and the promotion of Grafton's interests.

The Canebrake Notes thinks the transformation of one Conneltsville moving picture show into a meat shop does not mean the decadence of the nickelodeon, but suggests that the cheap vaudeville feature of the moving picture shows should be abolished.

Getting down to the meat of the matter, our much esteemed and highly virtuous contemporary would abolish the flesh and retain only the fountains and evanescent reflection thereof, but we do not believe the public will stand for a show whose actors are all Dead Ones.

The California Sentinel urges the authorities to enforce the Act of Assembly prohibiting "the depositing, casting, throwing or placing of back-logs, stumps or sample of medicine or candles in the houses, buildings, porches, verandas, or on the lawns, lands, streets, or public highways within this Commonwealth."

The law should be everywhere enforced. The practice is dangerous to the health and the lives of children and it isn't very good for some experimentally inclined adults.

The Elizabeth Herald complains that Elizabeth, one among the principal summer towns of the Monongahela, is now scarcely known as a landing for boats.

In other words, Elizabeth has been left high and dry.

PROBLEM OF LABOR FOR SILK MILL.

of. The question of interest was branched. Mr. Dery said a six per cent bond was a high rate of interest to pay, but that detail could be arranged later. He expects to reserve the right to retire any of the bonds he may desire after a period of five years, and would take up and cancel a certain number each year after the first two or three years.

Mr. Dery said that as far as he knew there had been but two failures in the silk business in this State. Most of the failures are in Paris, where there are so many factories, most of them but small concerns. The tariff has helped the industry in this country and the new Payne bill is even better than the Dingley rate in that respect.

"How was the Wilson bill?" asked a Democrat.

"Just as good as the two that followed. The Democrats always took good care of us," was the reply.

Mr. Dery stated that he had never had a strike since he had been in the business and never heard of but one serious strike, that in Scranton a couple of years ago. Mr. Dery said Conneltsville should easily supply sufficient labor to operate a 400 loom plant, and even a larger one. He said the work appealed to the younger people, and that a large percentage of them made it their life work. He declared that the discipline is not strict, (talking in permissive during working hours and there are a few restrictions placed on the employees. That the months of the girls employed were endangered he strongly denied.

"A girl or a boy will be as good in a silk mill as in a Sunday school and if they want to be had they will not be good anywhere."

FAMILY CURED OF SKIN TROUBLES

Two Little Girls had Eczema Very Badly—In One Case Child's Hair Came Out and Left Bare Patches—Father's Head Sore from Childhood—In All Three Cases

CUTICURA MET WITH ITS USUAL SUCCESS

"I have two little girls who have been troubled very badly with eczema. One of them had it on her lower limbs. I did everything that I could hear of for her, but it did not give in until winter weather when it seemingly subsided. The next winter when it became cold weather the eczema started again and also on her head where it would take the hair out and leave bare patches as large as a quarter of a dollar. At the same time her arms were sore the whole length of them. I took her to a physician and he said that she had two distinct types of eczema. I continued with him for several weeks and the child grew worse all the time. Her sister's arms were also affected in the same way. My husband came home one day with a box of Cuticura Ointment and a cake of Cuticura Soap. I began using them and also the Cuticura Pills and by the time the second lot was used, their skin was soft and smooth as it had not been before for the winter. We keep the Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment constantly by us and when any little roughness or irritation appears on their skin I quickly dispel it with the Cuticura Remedies. My husband has used them with most satisfactory results for a sore head which has troubled him from childhood. Mrs. Charles Baker, Albion, Me., Sept. 21, 1908."

Cuticura Ointment is one of the most successful remedies for curing the disgusting humors of the skin and scalp, including loss of hair, of infants, children and adults. It is compounded in proof of which a single application with it, preceded by a hot bath with Cuticura Soap, and followed by mild doses of Cuticura Pills, is often sufficient to afford immediate relief in the most distressing forms of itching, burning and scaly eruptions, eczema, irritations and inflammations, permit rest and sleep and point to a speedy cure when all else fails.

A WATER SUPPLY FOR SCOTSDALE.

Drinkers of It Suggest Tank
Wagons From Mt. Vernon Well.

Flows From 400 Feet Down

Bubbles Up From Artesian Well Sunk
As a Coal Prospect—Repairing
Broadway—Sheep Men Take a Big Lead in Contest.

SCOTSDALE, Oct. 20.—A number of Scottdale people who have been to the Mount Vernon ore mines and drank from the wonderful artesian well at that place have been approaching the owners of the well in an effort to induce them to establish a system of water wagons to bring the water to Scottdale. This entire summer has been one of extreme discomfort to the water users of Scottdale. There was a low supply and a poor one, it being almost to health as declared by the Board of Health and the water of a being of a warmth and disagreeable taste that did not commend it to the tastes or approval of the consumers.

The artesian well that is the subject of interest is one drilled on 200 acres of coal holdings of Jesse A. Stauffer, a local coal operator; Robert Skemp, district superintendent of the American Sheet & Tin Plate Company; John M. Stauffer, of the Indian Creek Valley railroad, and P. L. Brown of the Cresskill Manufacturing Company. The well is about 400 feet deep and was bored for a coal prospect. It is throwing a steady stream of pure water, slightly tinged with iron, continuously, and chemical analysis is said to have showed it equal to the famous Keokuk water of which it is a counterpart. Here, however, it has the entire Chestnut ridge as a supplying shed the well being located on the western side at the slope at the foot of the Chestnut ridge, at the Mt. Vernon ore mines. There is another well drilled on the Peter Ridges farm, that flows equally as strong. Throwers of the wells say that they could supply a superior quality of water to Scottdale by wagon, and it may be that such a thing will be done next season, it being too late now for it. It may be a bottling works will also be started up for this water. The water supply of Scottdale has not been satisfactory during the last year, and the reservoir is said to continue leaking.

Republicans Were Here.

Several of the Republican candidates were down from Greensburg last evening meeting the members of the Republican County Committee. They say that everything is in fine condition throughout the county, and that the judgeship fight will be won nicely by Charles C. Crowell.

Took a Big Boom.
In the contest for members being carried on in the Y. M. C. there was a big boom made by the Mill and Shon Men's side which ran up on the banner the figures showing that they have secured 82 members to the Business and Professional Men's 55. It will be due from the latter to take a sprint forward to night up.

Doing Street Work.
Street Commissioner E. M. Stans has a force of men on Broadway fixing up the paving in front of Trout's butcher shop and J. M. Connell's store. The pavement there is a low slough of muck all the year around being insufficiently sloped and the brick will be relaid in an effort to escape from this muck pool that is an offense to all in that neighborhood.

Laying New Pavements.
Since Market street was paved there is a disposition on the part of property owners all along there to improve their places, and Peter S. Campbell is one of the latest ones to take this spirit. He is having a fine concrete walk laid alongside his property fronting on Market street.

A Case of Typhoid Fever.
The illness of Nellie Mae, of South Chestnut street, has been diagnosed by the physician and reported to the Board of Health as one of typhoid fever. This is the first case to develop in the town since September 15, and other cases may now be looked for.

Another Heavy Frost.
A heavy frost again visited this locality last night, and put the finishing touches on the work of Jack Frost the night before. There was no heavy fog like the morning previous, but the leaves have been falling today at a very generous rate. The trees have been about stripped of their leaves, and the streets are plastered with a carpet of them.

THRILLING EXPERIENCE

Of Pittsburgh Man in River Accident at Fairmont.

FAIRMONT, W. Va., Oct. 20.—(Special.)—Handicapped by a broken wrist and watched by several hundred people on the bridge above, John Kawalsky of Pittsburgh, manufacturer of motor boats and engines, battled for half an hour for his life in the Monongahela yesterday.

As he struggled with one arm to keep on the surface his position was made extremely dangerous every minute by his boat, which was running around the pier of the bridge with no one at the helm. Nothing but Kawalsky's courage and expert swimming saved his life, for after his strength seemed to be exhausted he suddenly dove and came to the surface out of danger of the runaway craft. He was then taken to shore in a skiff.

MINE COLLAPSES.

Two Men Killed and Two Others Severely Injured.

The other day the newspapers recorded the collapse of the roof of a coal mine, near Connelville, with the fatal injury of two men and two others severely hurt. It is such incidents as this that show us the uncertainty of life and the necessity of making what provision we can for those dependent upon us while we are alive. Money cannot compensate for the loss of a husband and father, but it can at least, save the widow and children from poverty. You may not be able to leave your family independent, but you can leave them something if you open a savings account and deposit a small sum regularly. The First National Bank of Connelville will be glad to have you do so, no matter how small. You can begin it with $1. Four per cent. interest.

The House Behind the Advertisement

—The people of Western Pennsylvania have learned that what "Aaron says" is invariably true.

—What a splendid asset for a business house to carry from year to year.

—It does away with all worry and doubt, and fear that harass one as a rule when buying furniture, carpets, rugs or household goods of whatever description.

—Every word we utter in an advertisement is a direct and binding contract with the person who reads it.

—You may call upon us for fulfillment at any hour of a year, any day of any month, any month in any year.

—That's our foundation.

—That's the "Aaron way."

—The law, unfortunately, places little or no restriction on advertisements. Some day it will.

—Until that day you will always have to consider the house behind the advertisement that you read, rather than the advertisement itself.

—Do this and you will save yourself many a vain regret.

FINE EXHIBITS AT INDUSTRIAL FAIR.

Room of Old Relics Contains Many of Historic Interest.

DISPLAYS OF THE MERCHANTS

Fair As a Whole Is Splendid and Worthy of Large Attendance—It Is to Continue During Balance of the Week.

The Industrial Fair at the Armory attracted large crowds yesterday afternoon and last evening. The displays are now complete and they are of the finest ever exhibited in this section. A number of relics have been exhibited since Monday and only those who have witnessed the exhibition can conceive an idea of their value and interest. It would be impossible to describe the many relics and priceless heirlooms on exhibition in a large room adjoining the balcony. Practically every house in town was canvassed by the ladies and in that manner about 1,500 curios and relics have been secured. The fair is one that no one can afford to miss. One can spend several hours in the curio room alone. In the large auditorium where the merchants have elaborate displays.

Among the many interesting relics is a piece of stone from the step in front of the old Cook mansion in Washington county. The mansion was erected by Col. Edward Cook in 1775 and is now owned by the Cook descendants. From this step George Washington delivered an address to the local soldiers who were being drilled by Colonel Cook. The display of Indian relics is fine. Mrs. E. Y. White has on display a ladies' fancy comb which was found in the grave of Mrs. Fuller when the old Fourth Ward cemetery was done away with. There is a table which George Washington ate from. This is owned by Mrs. James Long. Old sugar bowls from 100 years to 300 years old are also displayed. Mrs. Philis Albright has on exhibition a ring which is 103 years old. The ring was the wedding ring of her great grandmother and served the same purpose for five of her great aunts. This is prized very highly by Mrs. Albright. Zachariah Connell's chair and cane owned by G. B. Brown are also on exhibition.

A collection of dolls is a splendid feature. The dolls are owned by a wealthy lady of Columbus, O., and have been on exhibition for charitable purposes only. Displayed in a small glass case is the smallest doll in the world. It measures about a half inch in length and is jointed. This doll is said to have made more money for charitable purposes than any other one object in the world. Dolls which have been owned by Kings and Queens when children are also among the collection. An hour can easily be spent learning the history of the dolls.

The merchants' display is attracting the greatest attention. The booth is prettily draped with hunting and is used for displaying Butterick patterns only. There are several dresses made of tissue paper and at a distance one would think they were made of dress goods material.

Mace & Company have a pretty display of millinery, gloves, ladies' suits and furs. The display of the Wright-Metzler Company is equally as pretty. Their display is also of furs, millinery suits, and evening wraps. M. H. Feldstein & Company has displayed a very handsome evening gown and cloak while the background of green velvet gives the booth a very rich and striking appearance.

The booth of B. W. Horner is one of the neatest and trimmest at the fair. He has on display a line of goods he handles and the display on the whole gives one a splendid idea of the up-to-dateness of his store down town.

Kobacker's display is also very pretty. Millinery, suits, furs, etc., are on exhibition.

The booth of W. N. Leche is made of lattice work covered with trailing autumn vines. On display is a wide collection of Christmas books and novelties.

Very pretty is A. B. Kurtz's booth. With its artistic drapings of hunting and neat, but attractive, display of candelabras and clocks, the booth presents a striking appearance. A new booth added since Monday is that of the Young Coal Supply Company. The booth is cozy and was admired by many.

The Aaron Company's booth has been completed and is one of the prettiest. A dining room is handsomely fitted up in mission furniture. Excellent taste is shown in the arrangements of the furnishings.

The display work of the public schools is is important and admired by the people and the work of the students was highly praised. The fancy work display and the display of hand-painted china is deserving of special mention. It requires the work of an artist to turn out the work that is on exhibition. Mrs. Gertrude Solomon, Mrs. O. P. Purlinton and Mrs. Ray Gorton have on display a number of hand-painted pieces of hand-painted china while scores of persons have fancy work on display. During the afternoon and evening music was furnished by Kiferle's orchestra. Each day new relics are being placed on exhibition.

AT THE THEATRES.

THE SOISSON.

"The Climax." There is a keen interest manifested by the local amusement lovers in the forthcoming engagement of Joseph M. Weber's much-heralded comedy drama "The Climax" by Edward Locke, which comes to the Soisson theatre tonight. "The Climax" is said to be the real thing of the year in a theatrical way, and comes highly endorsed by the critics of New York and other cities, wherever the play has been seen this season. The play has achieved a most brilliant triumph at Weber's theatre, New York, where it is attracting large and delighted crowds. Never before in the history of New York theatricism has a play received such flattering comments from the dramatic critics of the metropolis as "The Climax," for without one dissenting voice they proclaimed it the play of the year. It is a drama which makes a particularly strong appeal to lovers of music, for the manner in which music is blended into the play is perfectly delightful. Only four characters figure in the cast, and three of that number are professional musicians. The story is that of a
